SUIT OF A TRAVELING MAN

WILL FILE PETITION FOR A DIVORCE IN THE CIRCUIT COURT HERE.

WIFE LEFT LAST NIGHT FOR ST. LOUIS

Is a Sister of Mrs. Frank Farris, Whose Husband Was a State Senator—Were Married at Troy, Mo., Last February.

Boyd M. Vimont, traveling representative for the Ruhl Clothing Co. of St. Louis, will institute suit in the Pettis county circuit court tomorrow for a legal separation from his wife, Pink Adele Vimont, to whom he was married at Troy, Mo., on Feb. 3, 1909.

In his petition he will allege Mrs. Vimont has made his life intolerable, namely, by going buggy riding at night with other men, against his will and consent.

Mr. and Mrs. Vimont have been occupying apartments at the Antlers hotel. They separated last night, Mrs. Vimont leaving for St. Louis on the midnight train.

Early last evening Mr. Vimont retained C. C. Lawson to represent him as attorney in his suit.

Mrs. Vimont was formerly Miss Pink Adele Bozza. She is a sister of Mrs. Frank Farris, wife of a former state senator, residing at Lebanon, Mo.

Mr. Vimont has been traveling in this territory for the past ten years, his headquarters being at St. Louis.

CRIMINAL COURT ENTRIES

Negro Burglar to Go to State's Prison for Two Years.

Lorenzo Gravitt, a negro, pleaded guilty before Criminal Judge Louis Hoffman today to having burglarized the grocery store of Pfeiffer & Light, in North Sedalia, and was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary.

Joseph Short, a negro, pleaded guilty before the same judge to assault with intent to rob and received a four-years' sentence in the state reformatory school at Boonville.

Frank J. McCoy and Jess Mitchell, employees of the Singer Sewing Machine company, charged with having entered the home of Mrs. Sallie Wilson in Cedar township and having carried away a sewing machine, are on trial in the same court.

The following jury is hearing the evidence: Thomas Alexander, T. H. Tuck, Louis Ochs, William H. Ritchey, J. M. Herrick, A. L. Stirlen, Albert Porter, George Kahns, M. V. Sweet, A. R. Baker, George Paxton and W. S. Allen, of Beaman.

H. D. Dow is conducting the prosecution and W. G. Lynch the defense.

MET WITH MRS. A. J. SHULL

Four Life Members Were Taken Into the "C. W. B. M."

Mrs. A. J. Shull was hostess to the members of the "C. W. B. M." of the East Broadway Christian church at her home, 213 East Saline street, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Fifteen members of the society were present and the following members were voted a life membership in the society: Mrs. C. E. Northway, Miss Lucile McVeay, Mrs. G. W. O'Brien and the Rev. E. H. Williamson.

The program included vocal selections by Mesdames J. H. Light and C. E. Northway and talks on "Foreign Missionary Work" by the Rev. Williamson, Mrs. H. B. Cole and Mrs. Betty Finch.

Late in the afternoon refreshments were served.

"DICK" ROHN WILL STICK

Manager of the Atlanta Club Will Not Release Him.

"The report that I am going to get rid of Doc Rohn and take Carey is a joke," said Manager Bill Smith, of the Atlanta club in the Southern league, "and is an injustice to Rohn."

"They tried to sell me Carey when I was in Memphis, but I gave them the laugh. Rohn is playing well and batteing better every game. He is all right, suits me and can have his job just as long as he keeps his present clip. Carey is 'going back' and I don't want him on my team."

Manager Smith reports peculiar attendance conditions in the two road series. At Memphis, where the team is a tail-end and all blown to bits, the attendance was good at every game, and especially good on Sunday. At Little Rock, where the team is leading the league, the attendance was down to almost nothing.

CHANGED OIL LINE REGULATIONS.

Washington, June 11.—The oil and gas pipe line regulations that have been in operation in Oklahoma were today amended by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger by eliminating the common carrier and so-called discriminatory clauses. Requests for the change referred to were made by a number of Oklahoma oil and gas companies.

A DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED

UNFORTUNATE WHO WAS KILLED NEAR COLE JUNCTION, MO., YESTERDAY.

SAID JOHN BUTLER WAS STEALING RIDE

Pieces of the Body Scattered for Miles Along the Railroad Track—Was Employed at Priesmeyer's Shoe Factory.

The Democrat-Sentinel yesterday chronicled the finding of the remains of an unknown man by the side of the Missouri Pacific track near Cole Junction. The identity of the deceased is thus set forth in the Jefferson City Post of yesterday afternoon:

John Butler, who for the past year has resided in this city at the Fairview hotel, was horribly mangled and killed early this morning while on his way to Kansas City on a freight train.

Butler, it is believed, was stealing a ride, when he fell under the wheels of the engine.

His remains were scattered for miles along the railroad track. One of his limbs was found one mile this side of Cole Junction. His head and body were found two miles west of Cole Junction, and four miles further west part of his neck was found.

At Sandy Pook his other limb was found by Harry C. Reeder, a civil engineer for the Missouri Pacific. Part of his right arm has not as yet been located.

The remains were collected and brought to this city. They were taken to the undertaking establishment of Heinrichs & Son, where they are being held for the arrival of Coroner Amos, who will hold an inquest. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butler, of Cincinnati, Ohio, have been wired of his death.

The last seen of Butler before his death was at the Pacific House saloon about 11 o'clock last night. He told some of his friends there that he was going to Kansas City.

Butler during his stay in this city was employed as an inseamer at the Giesecke-D'Oench-Hays shoe factory up till about five months ago, when he resigned and went to work at the Priesmeyer factory.

Deceased was 48 years of age and was well known among the shoe workers of this city. When seen late last night he had a roll of money on his person, but nothing was found in his clothing that was collected along the track today.

GAVE DELIGHTFUL RECITAL

Miss Virginia Dempsey and Mrs. R. E. Waddell for Pupils.

Miss Virginia Dempsey, one of Missouri's most accomplished pianists, assisted by Mrs. Richard Waddell, contralto, gave a delightful recital at the Dempsey home, 601 West Seventh street, yesterday afternoon, for the special edification of their pupils, the parents of the children and a few friends.

The program was one of rare excellence, and its rendition won for Miss Dempsey and Mrs. Waddell many compliments. The program follows:

Etude Op. 10, No. 5.

Etude Op. 25, No. 9 (Copin).

Berceuse.

Waltz, Op. 64, No. 2.

IS OPPOSED TO SALOONS

AT SAME TIME THINKS STATE WIDE PROHIBITION IS NOT YET RIPE.

"INITIATIVE" NOT THE PROPER METHOD

The Call for a Meeting in Sedalia on Thursday and Friday, June 24 and 25, Opposed by Anti-Saloon League.

The call for a state convention of prohibitionists here on June 24 and 25, to take action looking to a vote on statewide prohibition in November, is not endorsed by the Missouri Anti-Saloon league, as will be seen by the following from the Globe-Democrat of this morning:

The executive committee of the Missouri Anti-Saloon league yesterday gave out a public statement, declaring its opposition to the movement to submit statewide prohibition to the voters of Missouri by means of the initiative. The committee met yesterday in the Century building.

The statement, signed by Rev. W. F. Andrews, president; E. F. Jones, secretary; Rev. E. J. Moore, superintendent; C. M. Hay, attorney; Christian Bernet, Rev. S. E. Ewing and Rev. J. Layton Mauze, follows:

"The motto of the Anti-Saloon league is, 'The only solution of the saloon problem is no saloon.'

"The league believes in and is striving for the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic. It has never opposed prohibition; on the contrary, it has strenuously advocated it, and for this it is both earnestly and steadfastly working.

What the league wants is the surrender of the forces of the liquor traffic, and it will continue the war until that surrender is unconditional.

"The league, however, inclines to the view that at present it would be unwise to attempt to secure the submission of a constitutional amendment by use of the initiative plan.

"We believe the energies of the temperance people of Missouri can best be expended for the next two years in the effort to secure the proper enforcement of existing anti-liquor laws and in building a sentiment which will insure the election to the next general assembly of men favorable to the measures urged by the temperance people upon the recent general assembly."

Took Departure From Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian McCurdy, who recently disposed of their farm southeast of Hughesville, left this morning for an extended trip through Canada and the northwest, a visit to the exposition at Seattle, Wash., after which they will go to San Jose, Cal., to reside.

ARE VISITING IN SEDALIA.

Joseph Hennessy, foreman of the Pullman shops in St. Louis, and Louis Miller, foreman of engine house No. 2 in that city, arrived in Sedalia last afternoon and will remain over until tomorrow night as the guests of their cousin, Mrs. David C. Walker.

Mr. Walker is showing the two gentlemen over the city. "Dave" says that Mr. Hennessy is 42 years of age, and this is the first time he has ever been outside of St. Louis county, so it is needless to say he appreciates his outing to the fullest.

MAY GO HOME TOGETHER

THE REV. F. G. SCHENK AND WIFE ARE TO BE DEPORTED NEXT WEEK.

DIVINE MADE "HISTORY" WHILE IN STATE

BECAME INFATUATED WITH GERTRUDE WOLFF, A GIRL EMPLOYED AT HIS HOME, AND SHE BORE HIM TWO CHILDREN.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—A reconciliation has taken place between the Rev. F. G. Schenk and Mrs. Schenk and they probably will be deported to Switzerland on the same boat about the middle of next week.

The reconciliation took place in the office of Immigration Inspector Dunn, Schenk being taken there from the jail, where he has been confined ever since his arrest, ten days ago, on a charge of importing Gertrude Wolff into this country for an improper purpose.

Schenk expressed the deepest remorse, and promised his wife that he would live with her faithfully for the rest of their lives, giving up Gertrude Wolff forever.

Inspector Dunn placed the hands of the husband and wife together, and each solemnly promised to live only for the other throughout the future.

Mrs. Schenk returned to St. Louis and was at the parsonage there Thursday making arrangements for her departure.

He called up his fiancee on the telephone and made arrangements to meet her in the public square that afternoon. When the young woman arrived and he was in the act of greeting her, two officers stepped up and placed him under arrest.

Gertrude Wolff's two little girls, who are admitted to be Schenk's children, will be taken back to their old home by the Schenks as they are included in the deportation order.

TOOK DEPARTURE FROM SEDALIA.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian McCurdy, who recently disposed of their farm southeast of Hughesville, left this morning and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

"Why did I take it?" he said in answer to a question. "Well, I can't tell myself why did it. The sack was lying there with no one around. It occurred to me that it no doubt contained money and with scarcely a thought, I picked it up. It was only after I had rifled the contents that I realized what I had done. I'm mighty sorry, and suppose I'll have to go to prison for several years."

RESIGNED, BUT STILL AT WORK.

Edward Zoelig, a deputy constable, who resigned several weeks ago, is still employed, and will not sever his relations with the department until a suitable successor is named.

WAS BLOWN FROM TRACK

PECULIAR ACCIDENT ON KANSAS CITY, MEXICO & ORIENT RAILWAY LAST NIGHT.

THERE WAS ONLY ONE PERSON KILLED.

Train Had Just Run Onto a Bridge When Terrific Gale of Wind Lifted It From Rails Into Bed of Stream Below.

Kansas City, June 11.—During a terrific wind storm which prevailed throughout that section of Texas last night a Kansas City, Mexico and Orient passenger train was blown from a bridge across the Brazos river, near Knox City, Texas, and one passenger, J. E. Stafford, of Crowley, Texas, was killed. Details received here are meager, as the wires are in bad shape, but it is known the train was running at the rate of twenty miles an hour when the accident occurred and had just gone onto the bridge when a sudden gale sent it rolling into the almost dry bed of the river below.

The baggage car and three coaches tumbled over, but the weight of the engine prevented it leaving the rails.

That more persons were not injured was due to the fact that at the point where the cars left the rails the fall is but ten feet.

Further dispatches say that four persons were killed in a tornado at Leuders, a hundred miles west of Fort Worth, and a section camp at South Wichita, Texas, was completely destroyed.

TORNADO DESTROYED A VILLAGE.

El Paso, Texas, June 11.—A tornado last night almost destroyed Hamlin village in Central Western Texas, on the Orient railroad. Three persons were seriously injured.

TO INVESTIGATE DIVORCE

Special Commissioner to Hear Guggenheim Fraud Charges.

Chicago, June 11.—Judge Honore yesterday appointed Attorney Fyffe to represent the court at the reopening of the divorce suit of Grace B. Guggenheim against William Guggenheim, of the so-called smelter trust.

On Tuesday Judge Honore ordered the Guggenheims to show cause why their divorce secured in this city in 1905 should not be set aside on the grounds of fraud.

It will be Mr. Fyffe's duty to make a thorough investigation into the case and report back to the court concerning the charges of fraud.

COAL STRIKE SETTLED

No Further Trouble Expected in the Lumber Strike.

McCloud, Cal., June 11.—The five companies of state militia which were ordered here by Governor Gillett to assist Sheriff Howard in maintaining order among the striking Italian employees of the McCloud River Lumber company, returned to Sacramento yesterday.

No further trouble is anticipated, as most of the strikers have departed. The plant of the lumber company has partially resumed operations.

Back to Sedalia, the beautiful Queen City, and visit again the scenes of years gone by.

The Home Coming reunion will be held October 2, 3, 4 and 5, during the week of the Missouri state fair.

The semi-centennial of the founding of the city will be celebrated, and a grand welcome will be extended to all who gather to commemorate the event.

There are ex-Sedallians everywhere, but they will all be here again at the Home Coming.

The Weather Forecast.

Partly cloudy, with probably showers tonight or Saturday.

WHAT PROFITS SHOULD THE TARIFF YIELD?

At the Lake Mohonk conference Ambassador Bryce exonerated the newspapers from the charge often made that they foment war.

He said they simply reflected public sentiment when they assumed a belligerent tone. This is true, but only a part of the truth.

The newspapers have often been more pacific than public sentiment. Bismarck habitually accused the papers of inciting war, and in 1877 he said they had caused the last three European wars, whereas he was himself the deliberate cause of Prussia's wars with Denmark, Austria and France.

Possibly Russian public sentiment made the war with Turkey in 1877, but assuredly newspapers did not. The Russian newspapers were edited by the police.

It was at this point that Senator Gore became stirred into giving the senate that remarkable exhibition of memory, for facts and figures taken from official reports, which had been mentioned in the dispatches. He had before spoken of the Troy mills at Fall River, which had paid a 67 per cent dividend in 1907, 21 per cent in the bad year of 1908, and an average for fourteen years back of 27 per cent. Mr. Lodge said that these high dividends were exceptional and due to real estate investments.

The Oklahoma senator replied that many or most of the New England cotton mills seem to be in the real estate business, but he finds the exceptionally high dividends almost numerous enough to prove the rule. Thus the Dartmouth mills at New Bedford paid 66 per cent in 1907, the same in 1908, and an average of 17.5 per cent for the past ten years, while in February of the present year the senator figures the company declared a special dividend of 100 per cent, payable either in cash or bonds. The Acushnet company of the same place paid 66 per cent in 1907, and an average of 21 per cent for nine years past.

But, continues Mr. Gore, we must consider not only dividends paid, but net earnings. In measuring the profit of a mill or industry, which is, of course, true, the Massachusetts cotton mills at Lowell paid only 8 per cent in 1907, but earned a net of over 41 per cent, which was carried to surplus, above the 8 per cent. They appear also to be in the real estate business up in Maine, added the senator, for the Bates mills of Lewiston paid 35 per cent in dividends in 1907, and earned 42 per cent. The Pepperell company at Biddeford paid 47 per cent in 1905, 62 per cent in 1906, and an average of 24 per cent in nine years.

"You see the real estate business was pretty brisk during the year 1906," said Mr. Gore. The same business was not quite as good in New Hampshire in 1907, paying 11 per cent in dividends. The Tecumseh mills had net earnings of 24 per cent; the Borden City company 37 per cent, dividend 33½ per cent; the Pierce company of New Bedford paid 32 per cent in dividends in the same year; the Hathaway company of New Bedford, "as I remember, only 40 per cent, sustaining, as I suppose, some reverse in its real estate transactions." The Union Cotton company 35½ per cent, with net earnings of 46 per cent. Then the Sagamore company of Fall River is mentioned as paying 30 per cent and earning 48, and so on. And these enormous earnings were being made at the very time when cotton importations, according to tariff extremists, were so heavy as to threaten the existence of the industry in New England.

Is there no limit to New England greed in the matter of tariff protection and profit? The senator from Oklahoma well questions whether any such profits obtain, in the mercantile or other unprotected business of New England; but he knows they do not among the farmers and planters of his and other sections of the country, who have a right to complain of being taxed on cotton goods for such profits.

DEPRESSION IN GERMANY.

Indications of industrial depression in Germany are to be found in the statistics of population of the principal cities for the year 1908, now officially published.

Nuremberg is the only one that shows an increase for the year, and this is accounted for entirely by the excess of births over death.

The population of Berlin was 2,111,561 at the close of 1907; at the close of 1908 it was 2,106,942. This was a loss of 4,419, and it was suffered in spite of an excess of 16,415 births over deaths, indicating that over 20,000 inhabitants of the German capital in 1907 had departed therefrom last year in search of employment elsewhere.

Where the dislocated wage earners went is not discernable from the census. Every city included in the official survey shows a net loss in this class of population. They must have emigrated or gone into farming. The latter is quite a probable explanation; somebody has to raise the $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 worth of beef formerly shipped to Germany by American packers, but now excluded by "sanitary" regulations in favor of the agrarians.

The semi-centennial of the founding of the city will be celebrated, and a grand welcome will be extended to all who gather to commemorate the event.

There are ex-Sedallians everywhere, but they will all be here again at the Home Coming.

A WEIRD CRIME IN NEW YORK

The Body of a Man Wrapped in Paper and Left With a Boy.

New York, June 11.—The dismembered body of a man, with the head missing, was found by the police here last night. It was done up neatly in two bundles of brown paper and black oil cloth.

The bundles had been left in charge of a small boy by a stranger who had promised him five cents to watch them till he came back. The bundles were taken to the nearest station house. On the wrappings was written in letters of red three inches high:

"Black Hand."

There were four stab wounds in the chest of the body.

Dismembered Body Identified.

New York, June 11.—The dismembered body of the man which was wrapped in oiled cloth and left in the care of a small boy on the east side last night, was identified today as that of Samuel Bersin, aged 22 years, a palmer.

A possible solution of the mystery lies in the statement of Mrs. Mollie Isaacson, the dead man's sister, who told the police that Bersin had been depressed over a love affair and stood in fear of a jealous rival.

The Conjurer Confesses.

That "the hand is quicker than the eye" is one of those accepted sayings invented by some one who knew nothing of conjuring—or, as is more likely, by some cunning conjurer who aimed still further to hoodwink a gullible public. The fact is that the best conjurer seldom makes a rapid motion, for that attracts attention, even though it be not understood. The true artist in this line is deliberate in every movement, and it is mainly by his actions that he leads his audience to look not where they ought, but in an entirely different direction, says St. Nicholas. Mr. David Devant, who for a number of consecutive years has entertained London with his ingenious tricks, has said: "The conjurer must be an actor. By the expression of his face, by his gestures, by the tone of his voice, in short, by his acting, he must produce his effects."

Elephant Turned Off Water.

Jule, one of the elephants at the Central park zoo in New York, gave a clever demonstration the other day of the wisdom of her tribe. There is a hydrant just outside of Jule's cage and until Saturday it had been fitted with a round handle to turn on and off the flow of water. On Saturday William Walker, the zoo plumber, fitted a new spigot on the hydrant and put it on a permanent T-shaped handle.

Jule carefully examined the handle several times Sunday. She looked it over again, and after much fumbling, turned it and produced a flow of water. Then she put her trunk under the stream, filled it and drank copiously. What pleased Keeper Snyder more than anything else was that she carefully turned off the flow of water after drinking.

A Cruel Trap.

A few days ago a man and his wife living in the Rue de la Grosse Horloge, in Rouen, France, suspecting their domestic dishonesty laid an abominable trap. In a metal cash box they placed a shallow vessel containing vitriol. They then fixed a spiral spring inside the box and locked it. Next morning the servant, seeing no one about, opened the box with a duplicate key. The lid sprang open and she was cruelly burned by the vitriol. Her employers had her arrested, and in her room the police found over $350 in cash, a superb pair of earrings, a gold watch and chain, and a handsome necklace. The jewelry is supposed to have been stolen from previous employers.

Pay Enough

Low-priced things are not always cheap. Low prices are sometimes dearly bought. There's such a thing as "extravagant economy"—which means saving on the price at the cost of quality. We sell good, wholesome products just as low as it is possible to sell them. We won't sell the other kind at any price. Foods that come directly out of the ground can be pretty accurately judged by any housewife. But the hands of man get a chance to adulterate and deceive in manufactured goods, and in these you must depend upon us to select for you. We devote our entire time to the grocery business, and not here today and off tomorrow. If you think of making a change or starting to house-keeping, give us a trial.

IT PAYS TO BE A LECTURER

Ex-Governor Folk Made More Than $20,000 in Three Months.

St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—Ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk has just returned to St. Louis from a lecture tour.

Since he left Missouri three months ago Mr. Folk has covered more than twenty-five thousand miles, delivered ninety lectures and made more than $20,000. He acted as his own manager.

The ex-governor had a sliding scale for his lectures. For some of his talks he received $200 each, for a few a little under that amount and for some more.

The lecture tour covered territory from Maine to California and from Canada to the gulf.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough from a simple cold—only you should always have, nothing else can cause the chills and shivers. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has killed many people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label if persons die in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! However, Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's label—No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in any medicine, else it must be law to have a label. And it is true, but it is said to be by those that know best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with ours and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

INSPECTED MANY STORES

Dr. Cutler Says That in Carthage Conditions Are Ideal.

Dr. W. P. Cutler, state dairy and food commissioner, returned this morning from an inspection tour in Southwest Missouri, says the Columbia Tribune of yesterday.

Inspections were made in Carthage, Joplin and Springfield. His deputies are now working in Webb City.

"In Carthage," Dr. Cutler said, "we found the conditions as to food and milk nearly ideal. The local inspection there is so well organized that there was practically no work to be done."

"The women of Carthage won't buy from grocers who do not comply with the law. As a result there are no sidewalk displays of foodstuffs and the doors of the stores are screened. The conditions in Carthage are the best I have found in any city."

In Springfield Dr. Cutler will prosecute twenty cases for the selling of impure milk and hamburger steak. Three cases of the selling of bad hamburger were found in Joplin and will be prosecuted. A demonstration was given to the city council, as a result of which Dr. Cutler expects the city to establish a local inspection force.

READ DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL WANT ADS

You are wanting something every day, and every day in the classified advertising columns of the Democrat-Sentinel somebody is offering to supply a myriad of just such wants as yours.

Turn to these want ads the first thing Sunday morning. Get the habit of reading them. They are rich in suggestion even if they do not always tell you of some particular thing that you will want to write to the advertiser about.

But there will be very few days when you cannot find something that will be of special interest to you—something that you will want to buy.

It may be farm land, a city lot, a piano, a collection of oil paintings or bric-a-brac, an automobile, a horse or a business—there is no class of property, merchandise or interest that is not represented in the Democrat-Sentinel want ad pages from time to time—new things in the same line day after day.

To know the real value of these little classified ads you should make use of this department as an advertiser yourself. Make the test and you will understand why there were thousands of these ads in the Democrat-Sentinel last year.

PARADE OF 100,000 KIDS

IN BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, 292 SUNDAY SCHOOLS WERE REPRESENTED.

WERE TWENTY-SIX SEPARATE DIVISIONS

Vice President Sherman, Governor Hughes, Gen. O. O. Howard and Other Distinguished Men Reviewed Procession.

New York, June 11.—The Brooklyn Sunday School Union, which now takes in the entire borough, celebrated its eightieth anniversary yesterday.

The principal feature, as usual, was the parade of the children and the teachers. The big Sunday school army, representing 292 schools, was the largest ever mustered. It was estimated that it numbered close to 100,000.

There were twenty-six separate divisions, each having its own line of march, so that simultaneous parades were in progress all over the borough from Red Hook Point to Newton Creek.

Before the parades William Berry, following his custom of several years, entertained the officers of the union, the distinguished visitors and leading local officials at luncheon at the University club in Lafayette avenue.

Among the hundred present were the Vice President and Mrs. Sherman, Governor Hughes, Gen. O. O. Howard, Representative Law, Representative Young and Representative Calder, Comptroller Metz, the president of the borough, Bird S. Coler; President Cromwell, of the borough of Richmond, Col. George A. Price, Justice Frederick E. Crane and Col. E. A. Stokes.

From the luncheon Vice President Sherman went to the Central Congregational church, where he made a short address. From the church, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman, he went to the Prospect Park division, comprising thirty-four schools and about 15,000 children.

BARONESS LIVES IN ATTIC

Baron Van Schreder, Railroad Clerk, Sued for Alimony.

St. Louis, June 11.—Circuit Judge Sale heard objections yesterday to the admission of depositions from the Baroness Amalie Natalie Melamine Von Schreder, of Freiwalde, Germany, in support of her application for alimony, pending the suit of Baron Gustav Friedrich Carl Von Schreder, of St. Louis, for divorce.

The baroness states that her clothing is not suited to her position in life, and that she has quit society for that reason. She lives now in the attic of her son-in-law's house in Freiwalde, which she has furnished herself.

Baroness Von Schreder says she always paid rent when she lived with the baron, excepting when they resided in the castle Schoeneck, on the Rhine, which belonged to the baron's mother. The baroness says the baron is employed now as a railroad clerk in St. Louis and earns $200 a month.

Baron Von Schreder's suit was filed in February, 1908. He charged desertion, based on his wife's refusal to come to this country with him. Judge Sale ordered the baron to supply $150 for additional court costs.

Shipbuilding Business Dull.

Great Britain maintains an active army of a quarter million men. She bears also the cost of keeping up an organization of 489,000 reserves. Fifty-five battleships, 103 cruisers, 325 torpedo boats and destroyers, 61 submarines, nine scout ships and 17 torpedo gunboats. Only 39 vessels were built in the United States during the month of January, with a total tonnage of 1,824 tons. One-half this total is to be credited to one vessel, otherwise the January additions to our merchant marine were small craft, the mosquito fleet of commerce. It is many years since the depression in our shipbuilding industry was so great. Competent observers will not be surprised if the output of merchant tonnage during the fiscal year, ending July 1 next does not exceed 150,000 tons. But for government work it would be difficult to keep some of the shipyards open.

SHOT AT; DIED OF APOPLEXY

The End of a Quarrel Between a Man and His Wife's Father.

Webb City, Mo., June 11.—After he swore he would kill J. T. Small, his father-in-law, it is said, Rube Underwood fired his revolver twice last night and in a few minutes Small dropped to the ground, dying from apoplexy.

Shortly before 6 o'clock Underwood went to the Small home and called the elder Small and his son into the yard, where a quarrel ensued.

In the course of it Underwood threw rocks at the others, and then, jerking a revolver from his pocket, fired. He was arrested on a charge of murder.

At first it was believed that he had shot Small. The true cause of the death was not learned until the arrival of the coroner.

Applying this method to the examination of traces of blood on weapons, he was able to recognize distinctly red blood corpuscles which had escaped discovery by expert examiners. The method, which is susceptible of other than medico-legal applications, is characterized by the fact that the light by which the object is illuminated is admitted into the tube of the microscope, whence it is reflected by prisms to the object glass, which converges it upon the object.

FORMER MISSOURI WOMAN FIGURED IN A NOTED DIVORCE SUIT.

His Attentions to Her Ceased, After Which She Became Despondent, Shot Herself in Her Apartment.

London, June 11.—According to the statements published in the London papers, Mary Agnes O'Brien Ruiz, the Missouri farmer's daughter, who was divorced a year ago from Antonio M. Ruiz, a Cuban diplomat, and whose name was mentioned in connection with the divorce case of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, committed suicide in her home in Grosvenor street on May 16 by shooting.

The newspapers also state that an inquest was held on May 19, but that the facts in the case were suppressed, and the affair is now being investigated.

Mrs. Ruiz came to London last April and with an American companion, Miss Caney, took a furnished house, where she had numerous visitors. During the early part of May, however, she became ill.

On May 16 Miss Caney heard a shot in Mrs. Ruiz' room, and on entering found the patient lying in bed with a bullet wound in her breast and a revolver at her side. Mrs. Ruiz died the same night.

Advancement in Illustration.

Up to 1879 no other methods were used for plates in fine art illustration than line engraving, and for blocks than wood engraving. Lithography scarcely entered into consideration, photographic reproduction was unknown. Etchings were out of fashion, and mezzotint was found unworkable for large numbers. Twenty years later, line engraving was practically a dead art, and wood engraving was rapidly becoming so. Reproductions based on photography developed, until color photography appears a possible method of actual book illustration.

German Red Tape.

A Danzig, Germany, paper tells a story of incredible red tapeism recently witnessed in that city. A fire broke out at a big sugar factory and great damage was done in a few minutes. The flames were rapidly spreading, but it was hoped that the storehouse containing 13,000 casks of raw sugar, each holding a hundredweight, might be saved, and all efforts of the fire brigade were turned in that quarter. Here, however, several custom house officers suddenly appeared and forbade the firemen to enter the warehouse, on the ground that the duties had not yet been regulated. Despite energetic opposition the officers stuck to their principles, and the whole stuff was consumed by the flames.—Baker's Weekly.

When your vitality is low you need "toning up." Why not "tuning up?" Same thing. We are all pianos, just a mass of sounding boards, keys and strings. We get out of tune and tone; we run down, just like an eight-day clock, and require rewinding. Look at your wife to-morrow morning and see if she is out of tune. If she is cross you will say she got out of bed with the wrong foot foremost. Not a bit of sense in that. She simply got up from her night's rest out of tune, or tone. Tune her up! Tone her up! In her finest health she may be a G sharp; when not so well she may be at D. Have your family kit of tuning irons; give her a test; then bring her up to pitch.—New York Press.

Was Once Great City.

No city has a happier name than Isphahan—the "rendezvous." When visited by the traveler Chardin in the early part of the eighteenth century, it contained 173 mosques, 48 colleges, 1,800 caravansaries and 273 public baths. But the Afghans, the local vandals, who did not care for bathing, destroyed the aqueducts and slaughtered the bathers. In the matter of great public squares Isphahan can easily outrival any European city. The Meyden, or great square, is a third of a mile in length and about half that breadth. It was once encircled by a canal bordered by fine plane trees, but these have long since vanished along with the canal.

KEPT WOUND A SECRET

Young Lad Died of Lockjaw at Joplin, Mo.

Joplin, Mo., June 11.—After accidentally shooting himself in the hand with a blank cartridge in a toy pistol two weeks ago and concealing it from his parents because he feared a whipping, Sidney H. Neeland, 12 years old, died here late Wednesday night from tetanus.

About two weeks ago the boy, in company with companions, bought a toy pistol sold for the Fourth of July. He accidentally discharged it. A few minutes later a physician on the street bound the wound temporarily and cautioned the lad to hurry home and tell his parents.

Believing that his father, George

Neeland, would whip him, Sidney told him he had hurt his hand on a nail. Three days ago tetanus developed.

Portugal in Hard Straits.

It is just a year ago that the double fatality in the royal house of Portugal occurred, when the king and prince were assassinated. The anarchical factions in Lisbon have been "celebrating" the event. For the royal house's anniversary is particularly sad under the circumstances, for the palace has never known a moment's real peace since the day of the tragedy. The efforts which have been made by King Alfonso to promote a union with Spain may be said to be the brightest sign in the political sky of Portugal just now, though it is not certain that the Spanish monarch will be able to win over the corrupt office-seekers of Lisbon, whose greatest achievement of late years has been to grab all the spoils offering and deplete the national treasury of everything not actually demanded by the supporters of the present regime for the expenses of the king's household.

Well-Deserved Criticism.

"A picture recently published in Munich shows that the peculiar vanity which manifests itself in a desire to be photographed often kills the sense of decency," says a writer in a Berlin paper. "The picture shows five uniformed men standing on the smoking ruins of a building. In front of them, propped up against the debris, are eight mutilated corpses. Under the picture is this legend: 'The Indian coast has been infested for hundreds of years by Malaga pirates. Recently a body of Europeans, conducted by natives, pursued and captured one of these robber bands, whom they bound and cast into a pagoda, which they then blew up with dynamite.' The men who posed for a picture, in which they seemed to gloate over the dead, the fruit of which forms the grotto foreground, were all Europeans."

Timothy Shea, of Peoria, Ill., first vice president of the organization, presided. About fifty delegates were present from Missouri, Colorado, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and elsewhere. Mr. Shea made the following statement last night:

"The meeting was called to consider the controversy pending between our organization and the Texas & Pacific railway concerning the reinstatement of one of our engineer members, who was discharged, and the maintenance of a rule in our schedule with the company guaranteeing to our organization the right to represent engineer members of our organization."

"This rule has been effective for over three years, and has been recently abrogated by the company, and also a rule requiring the company to promote firemen to the position of engineers for every engineer hired."

"Our organization has exhausted all honorable efforts to secure a settlement with the management of the Texas & Pacific and has failed. Delay in "Katy's" New Trains.

From an absolutely reliable source this office learns that the two new passenger trains the Katy has contemplated installing for months past will be in service by September 1st, says the Fort Scott Tribune of yesterday.

The idea of putting the trains on by July 1st has been abandoned, and September 1st is now given as the date for these new trains.

This news comes from the general offices at St. Louis. The trains will run from Galveston to St. Louis and return and will be of the same type as the Katy flyers at the present time.

The company's travel south and east has always been as heavy as could be handled and the new trains are put on to handle the business in a more satisfactory manner.

There will be a daylight train from here to St. Louis, the plan being to have it make the stops the flyer now makes.

Henry Allen, a former Bunceton boy, who, with his parents, has been making his home in Sedalia for the past few years, has been offered and accepted a promotion in his work as stenographer for the Missouri Pacific, says the Bunceton Tribune. He has gone from Sedalia to St. Louis to take charge of his line of work in the office of the master mechanic of the system named, at an increased salary.

Henry is a bright young fellow and has made good in his work for the company. He is now pleasantly located and is in line for even better promotions.

His father was here on business last Wednesday, and before leaving town requested us to send Henry the Tribune for the coming year, in order that he might keep in touch with the old home happenings.

A MONUMENT UNVEILED

SHAFT ERECTED TO MEMORY OF CONFEDERATE GENERAL STEPHEN D. LEE.

NATIONAL CEMETERY, VICKSBURG, MISS.

Hon. Henry Watterson, Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and Gen. Clement A. Evans Pay Tributes to Deceased.

Vicksburg, Miss., June 11.—United Confederate Veterans from all over the south arrived here today from Memphis, where the annual reunion has been in progress this week, and participated in the ceremonies marking the unveiling of the statue to the late Lieutenant General Stephen D. Lee.

The statue is of heroic size, with a huge base of red granite and occupies a prominent site in the National park, near the position which General Lee held while commanding a brigade during the siege of Vicksburg.

General Lee was for several years prior to his death the commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and the funds for the erection of a monument to his memory were largely raised by members of that order.

Several posts of the Grand Army of the Republic contributed to the fund, however, as a mark of the esteem in which General Lee was held by the soldiers of the north.

General Lee was one of the park commissioners of the Vicksburg National park, and many of the beautiful attractions are due to his initiative.

Upon taking the chair as presiding officer, Hon. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said:

Mr. Watterson's Address.

Standing by the Father of Waters let me first give thanks to God that from the Falls of St. Anthony to the Gulf of Mexico, it flows through an unbroken succession of American states; at once a chain and an emblem of perpetual union between the north and the south.

It was to gain this outlet to the sea that we acquired the Louisianas of France. It was to keep it open that the yeomen of the great northwest took the field. The purpose to close it proved an error of far-reaching magnitude; but if it be true, as Gibbon tells us, that "History is little more than the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind," what must not all of us have to answer for when reason comes to a final disposition of the facts of a conflict which even now baffles philosophy; because the south, foredoomed to defeat, risked all and had everything to lose, the wonder being, and the glory, that against such odds the self-confident but vanquished and vanished Confederacy was able to hold out for so long.

Those of us who survive that dread ordeal are old men now, and each annual roll call brings yet fewer of us together. Presently there will remain among the living not one who fought on either side.

Happy those who have been spared to look upon a land never again to be wet by fraternal blood and a people reunited forever in hand and heart. The mystic chords of memory stretching from every battlefield and patriotic grave to every living heart and hearthstone, touched long ago by "the angels of our better nature," swell at last the universal chorus of the Union; the memory of the deeds of kindness and of valor done; not of a common blood and race; for, impassable as the line of fire seemed, we were one people then, and we are one people now, the war of the sections a mutual and blessed heritage.

This is why we are assembled in a national cemetery to raise a memorial to a Confederate general. He was of the best the south has to offer upon the altar of American manhood, all that the north could wish an American to be. I have ridden to battle with him and knelt by his side in prayer, and can truly say that what his great kinsman was to Virginia he was to Mississippi.

"So prompt and capable and yet so calm. He nothing lack'd in soldier-

It will be for another to dwell upon his many and surpassing virtues; his skill and orowess in the field; his service to the arts of peace; his simple, kindly, sturdy manliness in the presence of life's duties; his christian resignation in the presence of death; a Lee in every drop of his blood, in every inch of his stature, in every thought and fiber of his splendid intellect and delightful personality.

Let me end where I began, for we still stand beside the Father of Waters. I regret that the battleship which but a few weeks ago came and went did not penetrate yet a little further up the mighty stream, so that the bullies from her decks might have looked upon the field where Grant and Pemberton contended for the right of way; so that the heroes sleeping here might have heard the thunder of her guns, shotted with the words of the noble Fremont. "The navy is without sectional prejudice and its patriotism knows no boundaries; we sell those of our own great country." But I am rejoiced to feel that wherever she sails she will carry with her the effigies of that gallant Mississippian, who in life signallized all that was chivalric in American manhood and all that was typical of the civilization of the south; to the end that, when her officers entertain the valiants of other lands, from the north sea, immortalized by Paul Jones, to the sea of China, immortalized by George Dewey—the Stars and Stripes above them—they will need only to point to the likeness of Jefferson Davis, the chief of the Confederacy, for proof of the rehabilitation of the sections and the perpetuity of the Union.

After the Unveiling.

After the unveiling of the statue, accompanied by a salute from the Warren Light artillery and the singing of the Vicksburg school children, Mr. Watterson, as a prelude to the introduction of Lieutenant General Clement A. Evans, who presented it in the name of the Confederate Veterans, and Major General Frederick Dent Grant, who accepted it on behalf of the government and the army, and the Hon. George R. Peck, who delivered the oration, said:

"I have declared that we are one people, no air lines, no water lines, or isothermal lines, separate us into geographical fragments, all the good on this side, all the bad on that. The war ended nearly fifty years ago. He who thinks there are issues left outstanding from the days of secession and slavery must have been dwelling in a rut of distorted fancies, nor have traveled much beyond the shadow of his own roof tree."

"Mississippi and Massachusetts are convertible terms. Given the same conditions their people would be the same and would do the same. During the thirty years immediately preceding the war of the sections, three at least of Mississippi's most popular and celebrated public men came here from the north: Robert J. Walker, born and reared in Pennsylvania; John A. Quitman, born and reared in New York, and Sergeant S. Prentiss, born and reared in the state of Maine.

"I'm about to present to you in succession Lieutenant General Clement Anselm Evans, commander in chief of the Confederate Veterans; Major General Frederick Dent Grant, of the army of the United States, and the Hon. George Rebeck Peck, of the great northwest, holding my own commission at large and from the District of Columbia, where I was born, but claiming sometime to be a Kentuckian.

"No state or sectional lines have ever made a pent-up Utica for any of us. Each of us breeds back to good old Anglo-Saxon and Scotch-Irish stock. In the bygone days the two most kindred American types were to be found in Boston and Charleston; and, still, there are those who, enjoying the gracious hospitality of the Algonquin club in the Yankee city and the Palmetto club in the city of the Huguenots, cannot tell one from the other, particularly after 10 o'clock in the evening."

General Evans' Address.

Following is an abstract of the address by General Clement A. Evans: "Our thoughts and feelings concentrate fully today on the patriotic life of Lieutenant General Lee, as we shall always associate him with the great events in which he acted his distinguished part," said General Evans.

"I will make his well known life the theme, his character the example, and his career the suggestion of the citizen's patriotic duty. What a noble man he was! Not merely a titular nobleman, without the noble graces, but a monumental nobility, proven by his deeds, belonged to him without other escutcheon. This monument declares his fame, and our country will accept it as a part of its own glory."

General Evans spoke of "the four years' brilliant military career of the great Confederate soldier," which, he declared, could be expanded into volumes by narrating the wonderful incidents of that vast war in which he achieved the fame the country delighted to honor.

"At the close of his life," said General Evans, "in the full vigor of his years, there can be found no unfitness for public service to any trait or quality of character or act of his bright career, which suggests a cause of any kind why the honors of this remarkable memorial should not crown him."

"Not a cloud lowered around his name. If it be becoming in man to be brave, he had that excellency of manhood, for the best ideas of chivalry were exemplified by his courage, since he fought as a patriot without malice toward his enemy."

"His hand never withheld what was another's due. His tongue did not falter in praise when it was merited by a foe. His heart flowed with limpid charity for all, and his life was passed in faithful service of God and man. He will be remembered forever in the biography of Americans as a type of the true citizen; the courageous, skillful, generous leader in war; the ardent Confederate comrade, the true gentleman, the affectionate husband and father, and, above all, the consistent christian man."

In concluding, General Evans declared that the people of the north and the south should more perfectly know and more kindly consider one another. "They should mingle without prejudice," he said, "without distrust, and for mutual benefit, not for partisan or sectional gain."

"Let east and west interchange courtesies and not complaints; let north and south cultivate fairly a more general fraternization by the exchange of admiration instead of recrimination. The evident quartet of sections—east, west, north and south—can be made an advantage and not remain a hindrance; and the civic unity of homogenous kindred citizenry will secure safely and forever the purest blood on earth, and show to all nations of this age the example of the best government on earth."

The Drys Down in Alabama Score on Three Points.

Montgomery, Ala., June 11.—The prohibition movement received three boosts yesterday. The supreme court held that it would not be necessary to have indictments for violations; the governor offered $250 reward for each of the men who beat up detectives of the Law and Order league Monday and stole a grip containing labeled whisky to be used as evidence, and the police commission issued a general order commanding rigid enforcement of the act.

THE RIVALRY IN GOWNS

IT IS BETWEEN WHAT IS KNOWN AS THE ONE-PIECE SUIT AND TWO-PIECE SUIT.

THE LINGERIE BLOUSE IS NOW TABOOED

Catherine Mann-Payzant, the New York Fashion Writer, Furnishes Weekly Letter to the Democrat-Sentinel.

By Catherine Mann-Payzant.
Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, June 11.—If ever there was rivalry in the fashion field, a fight to hold its own and perhaps cost another style, that rivalry lies between the one-piece gown and the two-piece suit commonly known among women as the tailor-suit, consisting of a skirt and coat with which is worn the much abused shirtwaist and blouse waist.

The comfort and practicability of the two-piece suit, its serviceability under many conditions, has endeared it to the feminine heart and in particular to business women, the woman of affairs; to she who must take frequent shopping tours; who is much on the road or travels; for with the addition of the clean, crisp blouse and shirtwaist, a good brushing and grooming, in a trice one is renewed in a manner that can not be got out of any other style.

But for a dainty house dress, for the afternoon, on the street, when not on business bent, for matinee, etc., the one-piece suit will probably take its distinctive place as against the business attire.

Nevertheless there has gone out from the one-piece suit an influence that has invaded the province of the coat and skirt costume—to simulate the effect of the "altogether dress," as the one-piece suit is sometimes known, and this is being accomplished through the agency of the blouse.

The feature that made the greatest difference of opinion was the use of a shirtwaist totally unlike the rest of the costume, which the dressmakers found all of a sudden was inartistic.

broke the line of the figure, and was altogether wrong; and which, incidentally, meant that every woman in the land must order a new outfit, or ought to.

It looked as though the blouse makers were to be put out of business last fall when the feminine heart swerved from its old allegiance to the one-piece suit.

Recognizing the principle of attraction to lie in the whole dress effect, and yet knowing the strong qualities of the regulation tailored suit, the makers and designers set to work with that genius that has been the life of their trade to produce models so captivating that they would capture the fancy of the most ardent lover of the one-piece suit.

The result is that now blouses may be procured in all the new shades used in the development of the two-piece suits. Trimmings, too, are in many instances, those favored by the most attractive makes of the tailored costume.

Some of the new blouses show braid and button trimming, hand embroidery on silk bands, and an endeavor has been made to effect more of the style of the made-to-order blouse.

In the line of materials it would seem as though every material is worn, according to the requirements of time and place. In making the rounds of certain business places and departments it is noticeable that business women, not those of the minor positions, but women who have their own businesses and those who are well up in their professions and hold positions of trust, assure the white linen shirtwaist of fine quality and good workmanship, for the reason that they always look fresh and put the woman in the spirit of readiness for work. Such waists are not of the cheap quality; the really tailored waist is rather expensive, as shirtwaists go, but the cut is always good and the fabrics used are serviceable.

It is true that the broken line is thus made at the waist, though many devices are used to overcome this defect; but we doubt if the so-called defect is any more inartistic than those of the high waistline and unbroken figure sometimes seen during the last winter.

Many women wear dark silk blouses for business purposes that exactly match the costume, thus coming within the range of the one-piece suit; and for the same reason that they always look fresh with nice neckwear, and, moreover, are not so trying to the woman of years. By the way, what is called the lingerie blouse is tabooed from business houses.

The fact is that the blouse has as wide a range of appropriateness in the matter of time and occasion as any feature of dress.

Next to linen, which is found in all colors, are the pongee waists, which are also made on tailored lines, and may, like the linens, be procured in the popular tones of the day.

The pongee waists are economical, for they are easily washed out at home; and if you have a gas arrangement you can make them look like new by ironing (on the wrong side) while very damp until they are dry, when they will have the same crispness as the new material. Without one is well situated to do the work, the linen waist must nearly always go to the laundry.

Washable white silks are fashioned into shirts of unusual beauty this season. One fascinating model of heavy China silk finely tucked was inset with bands of heavy cluny lace. The sleeves were tucked long and trimmed with tucks and inset band of lace.

Among the soft taffeta silks are some attractive ones with a white ground showing narrow black stripes. The front was buttoned across and fastened with two fanciful buttons of crocheted silk. The collar was of soft white muslin, inset with bands of lace. The sleeves were short and the cuffs deep and fastened with two crocheted buttons.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pinhead on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm. I have never made very light of it. I gave him a wash and told him to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was still swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and spread up the arms and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further."

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a burn or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhardt, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

and trimmed in self color satin make comparatively inexpensive and smart blouses, repeating the colors of the frock with which they are to be worn; and blouses formed entirely of heavy cluny, dyed and made over white in quite severe effects, save for big frogs or fancy buttons.

For serviceable wear much can be said for the blouse of Janane and Chinese crepe. It has the quality of laundering well, and many modes are made up in this material for dresser wear. The hand embroidered sorts are much liked.

While the waists for street and business wear are so strictly plain, those intended for the demi-dress occasions that will permit of a blouse are most beautifully ornamented.

For wear on the vacation, when one does not expect to be too dressed up, or for quiet little affairs just among one's own particular friends, some very pretty models are shown.

Batiste, lawn, linen and cotton wash crepe are all suitable fabrics for such waists. Embroidery as a trimming has lost none of its popularity, while lace and broidering is still used as much as formerly.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 11.—Complaints that a "peeping Tom" was peering into houses in this vicinity of Seventh and Angelique streets resulted in the arrest of the Reverend Joel Osborn, a Baptist preacher holding a pastorate on Messanie street.

He was convicted in police court yesterday on evidence supplied by George Davis, of No. 622 Angelique street, and Mrs. Josie Woodford, of No. 624 Angelique street.

Mr. Osborn's defense was that he suspected a male member of his flock frequented the house of a woman, and with the aid of the man's wife was endeavoring to catch him. The court could not see it that way and imposed a fine of $5 on a plea of guilty.

SALOON KEEPERS WIN FIGHT

Temperance Societies Lose Seven Years Contest.

Montgomery, Mo., June 11.—The saloons won in their fight before the county court here as to whether Wellsville should have saloons for another year.

The fight was waged by the different churches and temperance societies and has been in progress at intervals for seven years, having been taken to the higher courts a number of times.

The court decided that the saloon advocates had a majority of sixteen over the anti-saloon people. The saloon element also won at Rhinelander, this county.

Statement Issued by Secretary of State Roach.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 11.—Secretary of State Roach gave out a statement yesterday in which he institutes a comparison of the business of the office during the first five months of his administration with a corresponding period last year.

This shows the payment into the state treasury of fees aggregating $74,867.63, as against $58,156.85 last year, or an increase of $16,710.18 in the period named. Should this rate be maintained, Secretary Roach says, his department for the biennium ending December 31, 1910, will turn into the treasury $80,000 more than was received from it during the last biennial period.

TELLS OF MARRIED LIFE

KATHERINE CLEMONS GOULD TESTIFIES IN HER SUIT FOR SEPARATION.

HUSBAND IS IN COURT PORTION OF TIME

The Woman Denies Spending Large Amounts for Jewels—Hasn't Seen Austin Farnum This Year, She Testified.

New York, June 11.—After dragging through the courts for the past two years the suit for separation brought by Katherine Clemons Gould against Howard Gould went to trial yesterday before Supreme Justice Dowling. Mrs. Gould occupied most of the forenoon with her direct examination, and an hour before adjournment Delaney Nicoll, counsel for Gould, commenced the cross-examination.

Mrs. Gould made a favorable impression throughout the day and went through the cross-examination with a remarkable assurance and success. She answered the questions put to her without hesitation and frequently appeared to disconcert her questioner by the nature of her answers. Her husband reached the court room about an hour after the trial had opened and took a seat beside his counsel.

Mrs. Gould, in the course of her testimony, told of her marriage, the honeymoon on the Niagara and life at Castle Gould. The furnishing of the yacht cost $100,000, she said. At Castle Gould there were eighteen servants in the house, fifteen in the stables, eighteen supervisors and sixty laborers, all paid by her. Her husband gave her $10,000 monthly. In 1906 Gould took affairs out of her hands and began to talk of leaving her. Subsequently he packed his things and left. She alleged Gould then threatened divorce, saying he would amply supply her co-respondents. Mrs. Gould said the living expenses of herself and husband were about $35,000 a year. She read a statement of the amounts her husband had given her from time to time of their marriage, which footed up to $75,988.

On cross examination Mrs. Gould told how she kept track of her finances and showed an item of $10,000 and another of $12,000 for automobiles.

When asked if any of the money went for liquor, she said:

"Of course, and for coffee, butter, vinegar, onions, sugar and a lot of things."

Mrs. Gould denied that she bought $57,000 worth of jewelry in New York in 1900 and $21,000 worth in Paris. She did not recall spending $20,500 for gowns at Mrs. Osborn's.

Mr. Nicoll read from Gould's affidavit, in which he claims to have given his wife $765,500 from January, 1899, to July, 1906, and Mrs. Gould said she gave him credit for paying more than that.

When asked about Dustin Farnum, the actor, Mrs. Gould said she couldn't recall having seen him at any time this year.

Capt. A. A. Lesueur a Visitor.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—Capt. A. A. Lesueur, former secretary of state of Missouri, now a resident of Antlers, Ok., was a guest at the Laclede hotel yesterday. Lesueur is in the banking business and has nothing to do with politics, he says. He admits that the Missouri democracy is in a bad way, but would suggest no remedy.
